Peters Sellers in "The Pink Panther Strikes Again."

THE PINK PANTHER FILM COLLECTION ROCK HUDSON AND DORIS DAY ROMANCE COLLECTION

Think Pink! This Pink Panther collection ($69.96, MGM) offers five movies (including two 1964 classics, "The Pink Panther" and "A Shot in the Dark," and the 1976 "The Pink Panther Strikes Again") — but not the franchise-reviving 1975 entry "Return of the Pink Panther." To compensate, you get a new half hour documentary, with everyone from Blake Edwards to Peter Sellers' biographer Ed Sikov, and six cartoon shorts, all in a nifty black vinyl case. Rock Hudson and Doris Day star in a pink boxed set with three movies — the Oscar-winning (for writing) "Pillow Talk" from 1959, and two other frothy collaborations — as well an eight-song Doris Day CD, all at a bargain price ($29.98, Universal).

"FREAKS AND GEEKS": COMPLETE SERIES

Fans still lamenting the 2000 cancellation of "Freaks and Geeks" after only one season have reason to rejoice. Here are all 18 funny and delightful episodes ($69.98, Shout) with great music (from Styx in the first episode to the Grateful Dead in the last) and a tremendous cast (including stars in the making Linda Cardellini and James Franco, not to mention the intimidating Busy Phillips and the De Niro-like Martin Starr). TV doesn't get any better than this and neither do DVDs, thanks to copious extras like 29 (!) commentary tracks, audition footage, promos and loads of bloopers and deleted scenes.

"MEET ME IN ST. LOUIS" SPECIAL EDITION

Movie musical moments don't get any better than Judy Garland singing "The Trolley Song" in the classic 1944 charmer "Meet Me in St. Louis" ($26.99, Warner Bros.). It comes bursting with extras like an intro from Liza Minnelli, three documentaries, audio commentary from Margaret O'Brien and others, a deleted musical number and even the pilot of a TV series spin-off. Also just out: four other Garland movies, including 1938's "Love Finds Andy Hardy," for $19.98 each.

"IN LIVING COLOR": SEASON ONE

Keenen Ivory Wayans masterminded this instantly successful sketch comedy show ($39.98, Fox), but Fox drove the series into an early grave by airing it two or three times a week until Wayans finally left in disgust. But that doesn't dim the pleasures of sketches like Homeboy Shopping Network, Men on Film and Homey the Clown. Loads of talent on-screen, including Damon Wayans, David Alan Grier, Jennifer Lopez as one of the Fly Girls and Jim Carrey — who got second billing after Keenen.

Also out:

Merchant Ivory's commercial breakthrough "A Room With a View" Special Edition ($26.99, Warner Bros.); Steve Martin's gotta-pay-the-bills work on "Cheaper by the Dozen" ($29.98, Fox); more celebration of "Sesame Street's" 35th birthday via "What's the Name of That Song?" ($12.98, Sony Wonder); the deflating final episode of the Keanu Reeves silliness "The Matrix Revolutions" ($29.95, Warner Bros.); Steve Guttenberg's mom's favorite "Police Academy" Complete Collection ($59.98, Warner Bros.); and Ross McElwee's eccentric "Sherman's March" ($29.95, First Run).
