Evil Stem Cell Research Proving Annoyingly Useful

by Michael in New York on 8/01/2005 10:00:00 AM

Yep, the culture of life keeps on chugging despite Bush's best efforts to ignore the genocide in Darfur, turn his back on the starving of Niger, scoff at the desire of others to give a helping hand to Africa in general, and block medical research that could save countless lives.

Now stem cell research has found that infertile women may be able to harvest stem cells from their bone marrow that can help replenish the ovaries.

This latest bit of good news is one reason Sen. "I can diagnose people from watching a video" Frist is now supporting the expansion of stem cell research. Presumably Frist figures the far right people he needs support from won't have anywhere else to turn in the primaries (Santorum is out, unless he comes back in - he's been waffling a bit), so Frist can get ready to pretend he's mainstream for the general election when he runs for President in 2008.
