

FRIDAY, JULY 29, 2005 One-third of Humvees in Iraq Still Not Properly Armored

by Michael in New York on 7/29/2005 11:49:00 AM

One out of every three Humvees is not factory-armored. Imagine your son and daughter pulling the short straw. So what do you think of Bush? It's two years into the war and he's still incapable of properly equipping a third of the soldiers in Iraq using armored vehicles. A real commander in chief would have solved this problem ages ago. But of course a real commander in chief wouldn't run from military funerals just because he thought it might make a bad photo-op. I mean, really, it's not like Bush is running for reelection. Can't he at least do that for the troops? Show the fallen a little respect?
